

Jávri is an adult only boutique hotel in a small village, which lies in the far north of Finland. This charming Lappish-style hotel is a tranquil, aesthetically pleasing home away from home off the beaten-path, away from the mass tourism and with a responsible travel ethic.

UNIQUE BOUTIQUE HOTEL IN FAR NORTH

The location of Jávri is at the doorsteps to the trails and adventures in National Park – ideal for those seeking to experience Arctic untouched nature, to glimpse the Northern Lights and to hibernate in winter's cold and darkness. Or would you like to feel the magic of the Arctic summer and midnight sun? Jávri is less than 30 minutes from Ivalo Airport in the heart of northernmost Finnish Lapland. With capacity for just 26 adults all rooms have been meticulously and beautifully designed to bring in a feeling of Nordic peace and tranquility.

The lodge itself couldn't be more authentic. Jávri Lodge has a history dating back to 1970's, once the official winter home of Finland's former President Urho Kekkonen. The log chalet has since 2016 been transformed into a boutique hotel, where modern architecture meets traditional design while incorporating ecological and sustainable values. Jávri Lodge delivers an ultimate luxury arctic experience with only 13 rooms on site. There are six Cosy Doubles and three Spacy doubles with its original log walls and four Skyview doubles upstairs. The rooms are furnished using natural materials such as oak, leather, wool and lambskin, and they all represent Scandinavian design aesthetics where attention to detail is beyond expectations.

YOUR HOME AWAY FROM HOME

The lodge itself is intended to be a dream-home away from home with its lounge area, inviting fireplace, well-stocked wine cellar, and more. Light the fire, and curl up with a book or simply gaze out at a never-ending natural paradise that's unfolding outside the window.
