

Care is better at home.

As and when ill-health or lack of independence hits, many families feel their only option is to move their loved-one into a residential care home.

For so many, this is met with resistance, upset, a loss of identity and in some cases, an advancement of age-related health problems.

Our most vulnerable loved ones can stay at home, remaining as independent as they are able and surrounded by the things they love thanks to companies such as Bluebird Care.

Care at home can provide cost savings.

In actual fact, in-home care is often less expensive than care out of the home.

Bluebird Care, one of Ireland's leading health and social care providers has been operating in Ireland since 2007 and they pride themselves on placing the customer at the heart of every interaction, whilst providing care and support with kindness, compassion, consideration and respect.

The future of care is very much home-based which can improve mental health.

They provide quality approved, nurse led, health and social care services, enabling persons of all ages with varying degrees of ability to live as independent a life as possible in the comfort of their own home.

Care for all ages and abilities can benefit from home-care.

Professional care for all ages and abilities.

The company provide care for older persons as well as people who require care due to:

- Dementia
- Chronic illness
- Brain/spinal cord injury
- Physical/sensory or intellectual disability
- Neuro degenerative conditions
- Children and adults with complex care needs
- Children and adults who require convalescence / rehabilitation post hospitalisation
- Respite care
- End of life care
- Personal assistance support

For more information, you can find them at www.bluebirdcare.ie

Can you make a difference?

We are hiring!

Health Care Assistants and Personal Assistants required. We'd love to hear from you!

SCAN ME

Apply now:

paulamcinerney@bluebirdcare.ie

Tel: 061 48 12 08

Home
is where the heart is
Let's keep it there

