

living engineering – we drive your career

Electrical Hardware Engineer (f/m/d)

YOUR ROLE

- specification and development of electronic circuitry for analogue and digital technology
- circuitry and layout design for electronic modules
- implement and document tolerance and safety analyses
- commissioning and metrological analysis of hardware
- planning und organisation of development scope
- participation in the creation of product specifications, system concepts, FMEAs and failure mode and effect analyses

WHAT WE ASK OF YOU

- completed technical training in the field of electronic engineering or similar
- experience in the field of electronic development desirable
- interdisciplinary understanding of electronics, mechanics, software, sensors and actuators
- knowledge of analogue and digital circuitry
- good command of German and English as well as good teamwork and communication skills

WHAT WE OFFER

- rewarded as one of the best employers in the DACH-region
- with the 2nd best work-life balance in Austria
- excellent career development opportunities
- innovative projects in various fields and industries
- a stable and secure working environment
- personal support and a team ready to listen to your wishes and concerns

OUR BENEFITS

- BIG BEN – our project for promoting healthy living at work
- TEC Training Program – ongoing and goal-orientated trainings
- “We help you to go green!” – free annual ticket for public transport
- TEC Sport - volleyball, cycling, sponsorship for competitions (marathons, triathlons etc.)
- TEC team events - adventure weekend, team challenge, BBQ cooking class, sailing courses, skiing weekend and much more!

SALARY

- minimum salary in accordance with the collective agreement: from € 42.000 gross per year
- salary negotiable depending on education, experience and profile

STADLMANN TEC GmbH

YOUR CONTACT

MICHAELA PRINZ
RECRUITING AND HR MARKETING

+43 660 56 76 071

michaela.prinz@stadlmann-tec.at